BILLS INTRODUCED BY SENATOR CARR ARE IMPORTANT

During the first session of the Legislature which adjourned on January 26, 1917, Senator Frank M. Carr representing the Thirteenth District, introduced twenty-seven bills most of which directly concern the welfare of the district he represents in the Legislature.

Among the most important of his bills are the following:

Senate Bill No. 427, protecting the farmer and fruit grower against the dealing with unscrupulous commission merchants, by requiring commission merchants to take out a license from the State Market Director in order to engage in the commission business, requiring them to deposit a bond with the State Market Director in the sum of ten thousand dollars to insure payment of goods consigned to them by producers.

Another bill of vital interest to the outlying section of Alameda county is Bill No. 933 relating to the inspection and examination of dams and reservoirs where large volumes of water are impounded by public utility concerns, namely, The Calaveras Dam of the Spring Valley Water Company above Sunol, and the reservoir of the People Water Company in Lake Chabot, above San Leandro. This act is designed to prevent a recurrence of such a catastrophe as happened when the Otay Dam broke in Southern California last year, and fixes the responsibility for the safety of such dams.

Senate Bill No. 940 authorizes the Governor to appoint a Commission to investigate and report at the next session of the Legislature, the ways and means of fostering and encouraging the industrial and manufacturing development of the State of California, and has for its primary object, encouraging the consumption of California made manufactured goods, and is being strongly supported by the various chambers of commerce throughout the State and by various organizations interested in the subject of home products.

Another bill looking to the welfare of the children of the State, is Senate Bill No. 939 which provides that in the cases of half-orphan children, support heretofore paid to the institution which housed and cared for such children, shall be paid to the mother instead of the institution, in order that the mother may have the care and custody of the child.

Senate Bills Nos. 96-197, have for their object, the simplifying of legal procedure and do away with some of

A Change

The Press has made a change this week which we believe will add greatly to our facilities for getting out a better paper and will also enable us to handle any kind of job work desired in the township. Most of the mechanical work on the paper will hereafter be done in Berkeley where our linotype and cylinder press are located. The Press will continue to be published at Niles and will be in charge of Chris Runckel Jr. who will devote his entire time to it.

The high cost of production forces us at the present time to use every economy in order to get out the kind of paper we have been giving our patrons.

Until conditions change we shall be obliged to do as much work as possible in the Berkeley office which has a much better equipment than we would be warranted in maintaining in Niles.

We will still maintain our job office in Niles. All business and news matter will be handled at the Press office in Niles.

We are somewhat handicapped this week but in another week we hope to have every thing in shape to handle promptly any business that may come our way.

The Berkeley office is located at 2432 Bancroft Way near Telegraph.

The new arrangement will enable us to continue the fight for the rights of the people of this section without entailing the severe personal sacrifice which the past years have exacted. The fight of the Water District is by no means settled and we are anxious to see the fight through to the end. The new arrangement will help.

FARMERS ALL SMILE

THIS WEEK OVER SPLENDID RAIN

The rain this week has made everybody more cheerful and hopeful. Rain has fallen in sufficient volume to carry the crops along for several weeks. With a few more such storms later in the season the crops promise well. The damage of war, and the cruelly high price of everything were bad enough, but the damage of a dry season on top of our other miseries threatened a complete stagnation in business. The rain has put new hope and new life in business everywhere.

The rainfall up to Thursday as registered at the Southern Pacific station at Niles is 11.29 inches. Nearly three inches have fallen during the storm this week.

Alameda county orchardists will be glad to know that Mr. J. C. Shinn has been chosen to represent Niles and vicinity as one of the trustees of the newly organized Prune and Apricot Growers Association. Having had large personal experience in fruit-growing and possessing a complete knowledge of fruit conditions in all parts of our county, it is evident no better selection could have been made.

The red tape now surrounding legal proceedings.

Among the more important bills introduced by Senator Carr which effect the school children of the State, is Senate Bill No. 156 which provides for health and development supervision and prescribes certain standards of training which the physical inspector must possess and provides for the employment of physicians, oculists, dentists, and nurses, and prescribes their qualifications.

Among the other bills introduced by Senator Carr in relation to school matters are his bills making teachers salaries payable on the first day of the month instead of the first Monday in each month when teachers are paid by the calendar year in twelve school payments.

Also his bill providing that textbooks in the elementary schools shall not be passed on from one child to another after the books have been in use by one child for a period of one month. This measure is designed to prevent the carrying of infectious diseases which sometimes occurs where books are passed through various hands.

BASEBALL

We will without a doubt this year have one of the fastest baseball teams ever assembled in this school. We and we have the students behind us. So now it is entirely up to each man in the team to get in and develop the baseball that's in him. We now practice twice a week, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and have a game every Saturday, until the league series ends. This will develop our baseball to a great extent but it also takes spirit to make anything.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Girl's basketball season of this year opened on Feb. 13. Although they say the 13th is unlucky, it turns out rather lucky for us. There are eighteen girls out. Miss Spencer coached us and we had a good fast practice with fifteen minute halves.

PERSONAL COLUMN

The students body was very sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Coleman's brother-in-law, Professor Steubenrauch. Professor Steubenrauch was the foremost horticulturalist of America and his loss will be deeply felt by the entire nation.

The Seniors have challenged the winners of the Junior-Sophomore debate. Juniors and Sophomores, take heed! Adopt preparedness as your policy.

THIRD YEAR NOTES

The classes at school have been holding debates of every kind during the last month. Now interclass debating is in order. The Seniors have wanted to challenge the Juniors, but they have so far lacked the necessary nerve to do so. The sophomores have challenged the third year class to a debate and the challenge has been accepted.

Each class has selected a committee to come together and select a question for debate. The sophomores—junior debate will be held very soon, from the reports of the committee.

These debating contests will result in a contest for the championship of the school.

A FINE ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given in Niles on last Friday evening under the direction of Mr. Dolan of Hayward for the benefit of the Niles and Decoto Catholic churches proved to be high class in every feature. It was a fine, clean and exceptionally well planned and was a credit to the people from Hayward who presented it. It is safe to say that if it were to come to Niles again it would be greeted by a very much larger audience although it proved a financial success last Friday. It is gratifying to have such a very creditable entertainment presented here.

High Cost a Crime

The fact that potatoes are being retailed at four pounds for twenty-five cents in San Francisco and that nearly twice the price permitted to be charged by the British government ought to open our eyes to the fact that we Americans are being most unnecessarily gouged even though the world is at war. In the countries at war the prices of food are fixed. In the country where our people are entirely innocent of the war crime and where we are at peace we are paying the most outrageous prices for the commonest necessities of life. Surely it is time for some radical action or we will soon reap a whirlwind of radical action that will shake our institutions to their foundations. How people with small prices as they are is a mystery. Imagine for instance a family of five or six people living on the father's wage of sixty dollars a month. That is about what a section hand on the railroad receives. Why should poor people in this great nation be robbed as they are being robbed today? A government that permits its people to be reduced to the point of starvation in order that our robber barons may make money out of a foreign war can not expect their cordial support. Such rank injustice as is being inflicted today upon the poorer classes all over this nation is developing a wave of indignation that our government may well give earnest heed. The freedom of the seas is alright, our commerce should be protected, but when the nation is asked to starve in the meantime human nation will not stand for it.

Either the thieving prices for food must come down or the governmental conditions that permit the thievery will soon be called to a most serious reckoning. The present conditions can not go on.

The greatest suffering is in the cities where the great mass of wage-workers live and where under present conditions a bare existence is all that is possible to even those who are steadily at work at ordinary wages. It is here that the resentment against present conditions is growing keenest. One needs but to listen to any group of people anywhere and he can not escape the conviction that unless a break soon comes in the prevailing thievery in food we will be facing a most serious situation in our political life.

(By S. Snow.)

Newark, N. J., Feb. 23, 1917.

Proceedings in Justice Court, at Centerville, Feb. 14, 1917.

W. W. Cowles was allowed to go when proof was made that he was taking a sister down to Los Gatos, when they were nipped their aunt had died.

J. de Obarrio 1315 San Antonio St., Alameda, was fined $25.

F. B. Maiden and Irving Lendborg both of Oakland, deposited $25 bail each.

The cases of A. Sobel, Robert McClay, T. Bushman, J. W. Berge, Geo. R. Weeks, S. N. Bobo, A. Hanson and A. H. Patterson were continued to Feb. 21, 1917.

H. Wood, arrested for going forty miles an hour, was granted probation for the reason that he belongs to the Oakland Company, N. G. C., that recently came from the border. He was told that the uniform he wore got him clear as it was his first offense.

The case of J. Mathias for using vulgar language within the hearing of women was set for the twenty-first for sentence, the defendant having plead guilty.

the weather was not as good as it could have been. Newark got sixteen hits while the opposing team got but six. Arthur Silva sent fourteen men to the bench while the three pitchers of the All-Stars fanned only six of our stickers. This was the second game of the season for the Newark Idle wilds; the first I suppose you knew was a 17 inning 1 to 1 tie. Sunday we won very easily from the All-Stars.

Sunday the weather was not as good as it could have been.

San Leandro to play the Cubs of that city if the weather will permit a ball game. This is to be the first game of a series of three games, the first to be played at San Leandro, the second at Newark and a toss up for the third. This will be as good if not better than some of the series that were played by teams of this township a few years ago. The same teams will be in the field for both teams as were in the 17 inning tie that was played at Newark.

The score of the Sunday game was as follows:

EXCERPTS FROM GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE ON BANKING

The history of the State Banking Department from February 21, 1911, is the story of an effort to correct insidious evils that afflicted the affairs of state banks; to establish principles of governmental discipline in the activities of these institutions; to revise the bank act into a statute that would have capacity to restore to bankers a needed liberty of action not in discord with established laws of safety, and primarily to determine the character of every banking unit in the state system as far as that character can be expressed in terms of solvency. With this endeavor has come accomplishment. Banks under state jurisdiction have been relieved from the whims of special privilege; they have adjusted their resources to a plane of absolute safety; they are prosperous under the administration of a law which is construed equally and soundly.

In the endeavor to make banks and bankers understand that he first duty of the state is to guard depositors, there has been, of course, complete success. Gradually the lesson has been inculcated until to-day many who formerly resented interference by the state recognize not alone the right of the interest of the depositors, but the beneficent results as well to the banks. A minority, however, yet resent any interference by the state or any suggestion of regulation or improvement of methods, but handle this minority is constantly dwindling.

In the last few years, the bank act, in many parts, has been amended and these amendments suggested in co-operation by bankers and the bank commissioner, have proved in general of vast advantage. The bankers themselves first suggested critical examination and drastic regulation by the state, but there were some among these bankers who meant by this, only drastic regulation and critical examination of their rivals in business, and when specifically the provisions of the law were applied to them their indignation and resentment knew no bounds. The present bank superintendent has done just what has been done in every other department in the state—he has eliminated special privilege and he has administered the law under his jurisdiction firmly and justly equally and without discrimination. No bank has been too small to escape the provisions of the law and none has been so powerful or so rich as to evade its responsibilities. With all alike, the law has been enforced.

The result of an equal and drastic enforcement of the law, while not satisfactory to those who deem themselves entitled to special privilege, has been to create an unprecedented degree of confidence in our financial institutions, and to place the bank of the state upon a sounder and better basis and to render them more prosperous. At the commencement of the term of office of Bank Commissioner Williams, the aggregate assets of state banks was $586,101,030, and the aggregate now is $835,718,403. Individual deposits at the commencement of his term of office amounted to $465,808,000 and now to $694,287,000. There are now in the savings banks of California more than half a billion of deposits, an increase during the past six years of $194,000,000. Six years ago the aggregate of loans and discounts in the banks under state jurisdiction was $365,000,000; at the present time there are $498,000,000.

During the progress of the immense labor of reform among the banking institutions of the state not a bank in the state's system failed. In the first few months of the new administration three institutions were closed because of inherited infirmities, two other banks were compelled to liquidate but their depositors were paid in full. The solvency and standing at present of state banks, the fact that no state bank has closed its doors since December, 1913, are the demonstration of the efficiency of a just and impartial drastic administration of the law and the lasting tribute to the bank superintendent.

EDITORIAL

The Hayward Journal has just passed its fortieth year. For more than twenty years it has been under the guiding hand of the Oakes family. The Journal is the best local weekly newspaper in the county and has always done more than its part to promote the best interests of Hayward and has never lost an opportunity to serve the larger interest of Alameda County. George Oakes St. is one of the best boosters Alameda County has ever had and like many other newspaper men has never spared his own interests in seeking to make the Journal a paper worthy of the confidence and support of the public. His good wife when the occasion seemed to demand it assumed the helm and by hard work and unselfish devotion proved herself one of the best local editors in the State. For several years past George Oakes Jr. has conducted the paper and has proved himself a worthy chip of the old block. Aside from their splendid record in making the Journal a local paper of which the community has a right to be proud, the Oakes have always performed their full duty as loyal members of the community. The Journal is a good clean paper, run by good people and the Press has always esteemed it a great privilege to enjoy their confidence and support. May the Journal continue to live long and prosper in the future to the full measure of its usefulness. Here's our best wishes to the Journal and the whole Oakes family.

A rather amusing mistake occurred in one of our articles last week which made us say that Berkeley was thinking of getting a supply of distilled water from the Sacramento river. Of course it should have read filtered water. There was no intentional slam aimed at the people of Berkeley even though it is a dry community, neither did we intend any reflections on the Sacramento river water. It was just a mistake of the linotype.

THE OAKLAND POST

The Oakland Post, Oakland's new daily, although starting out in a modest way promises to supply to Oakland what it has long needed, a progressive and fearless newspaper. Its articles on the water question during its short existence have given expression to a sentiment which has been consistently stified by both the other Oakland dailies for years. We sincerely hope it will meet with a measure of support that will justify its continuance. Oakland needs a paper that is not hampered by the old political and financial incubus of an age that ought to be relegated to the scrap heap. There is need of a paper like the Post in Oakland and we hope it will stick. If it does it will have ample opportunity to do a real service in bringing about the realization of some things which not only Oakland but all Alameda County needs.

SPEAKS WELL FOR OUR DISTRICT

Figures recently published show that the following amounts were spent last year for charity in the various supervisory districts: Supervisor Heyer's district $20,505.88, Supervisor Joe Kelly $17,960.93, Supervisor Mullin's $15,922.90, Supervisor D. J. Murphy $2,492.60. Evidently our people are either more self reliant and less unfortunate or our Supervisor does not work the indigent fund to the same extent as his associates.

REFERENDUM ON WAR

The growing danger of war with the rapidly increasing amounts set aside for armament expenditures is giving an impetus to the idea of having a referendum on the question of war. As was is the most expensive as well as the most destructive policy in which our nation can engage it is right that the people themselves should decide it. If the munitions makers, the money brokers and the commercial interests could be made to carry on the war they are inviting the rest of us would not care so much about the referendum perhaps. The human cannon fodder will not come from these classes. Those who make the least out of war are used for the sacrifices of war. They ought to have something to say.

ATTACK ON OUR WATER

DISTRICTS

Assemblyman Godsil of San Francisco has introduced a bill in the legislature which is intended to create all sorts of trouble for county water districts and if possible work their undoing entirely. It is not hard to guess who is responsible for the bill. It will enable the corporations who have opposed the various county water districts that have been formed to continue their attempts to render them of little use. By the terms of the bill any taxpayer who can secure the consent of the Board of Supervisors can withdraw his lands from the district. This would enable the Spring Valley in the Pleasanton district, the Peoples Water Co. or the Dumbarton Land Co. in our district or the Yolo Water and Power Co. in Lake County to have their lands withdrawn and not only escape the tax that is placed upon them but to free themselves from the jurisdiction of the district. The bill was discovered by Mrs. C. F. May of Lakeport and called to the attention of our district officials by her.

It is a vicious attack upon the water districts and should be vigorously fought by our representatives in the legislature.

The introduction of this bill calls to mind the necessity of eternal vigilance on the part of our people. The corporations against whom our district is fighting are resourceful and are always on the alert to frustrate any attempt on the part of the people to curb their expropriations.

Evidently our district has another fight ahead at Sacramento and now that we have been warned it will be necessary for us to get busy and guard our interests at Sacramento.

OLD BERRYESSA

Editor Press, Niles, Cal.

Dear sir:—The enclosed poem addressed to me deals with my early life in Berryessa, California. Will you kindly publish this poem and the following explanation in your paper in an early issue?

My father, the elate lamented Judge Durham of Irvington, took his family, my mother and four children to California in 1871. Our first stop was at Napa, where we visited for a time with the families of Douglas Butler, W. W. Smith and Uncle Joe Marshall, at Brown Valley, moving to Berryessa Valley in the Fall of 1871. Father taught the public school in Berryessa for two or three years. From Berryessa we moved to Vaca Valley, that was about 1874 or 1875. About 1876 we moved from Vaca Valley to College City, where father started I lived in California until 1891, when I came to Chicago where I have since resided, but I still claim to be a Californian. I was very young when we lived in Berryessa and about the only families I can recall who lived there at that time are Clarks, Sewells, Gillispies, Staffords, Cutlers, and my old playmate, Stoney Rainey.

About ten years ago a group of exiled Native Sons and others who had tasted the hyssop of the Golden State organized a California Society in Chicago, now the California Society of Illinois. Through this Society I met James N. Hatch. We soon discovered that as youngsters we lived at Vaca Valley at the same time, and while we had never met, yet the names of our families were known to each other.

Mr Hatch is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He is now a Consulting Engineer and stands high in his profession. He has had many large commissions and only recently was chosen to appraise some of the public utilities of the City of Detroit for the State of Michigan, and is now engaged on works of stupendous magnitude. But it is not Hatch, the Consulting Engineer, that is loved by a host of friends, but Hatch the Heart Poet, and we predict that California will yet be proud of and do homage to her Poet from Berryessa.

The meeting of the Engineers' Club Michigan Alumni Association, California Society of Illinois, and other gatherings of similar character, of which Hatch is a member, are not complete without one of his poems.

A short time ago we accidentally learned that we had lived, when children, together in Berryessa, and had moved to Vaca Valley at about the same time.

One morning recently I found the enclosed poem on my desk. Before I had finished reading it my eyes were blinded with tears and I ask you to print it in memory of old Berryessa, and that I may pay this tribute of honor, esteem and love to my friend and fellow Californian, James N. Hatch.

Yours very truly,

W. W. DURHAM.

Chicago, Dec. 8th, 1916.

o o o

Old Berryessa.

(To my friend, W. W. Durham.)

In Berryessa Valley, Bill,
Some two score years ago,
Your folks lived just across from us
About a mile or so,
And you and I in those old days

Played under the same trees,
And watched the same stream rushing by
And felt the same cool breeze,
In Berryessa Valley, Bill,
Where you and I were boys.

These facts 'tis true we just have gleaned

Within the present year,
For we had never met until
We met each other here,
And you and I have changed a bit,
And live quite differently
From what our parents used to live
In eighteen seventythree.
Our boys have had a different life,
And played with different toys,
From ours, in Berryessa, Bill,
Where you and I were boys.

I had a pair of home-made stilts,
And a cart made by a man
Who walked with one crutch and a cane

And had a withered hand,
I also had an orphan almb,
And a white dog that was deaf,
And a chicken who had lost two toes
In a steel trap set by self.
These three were my companions true,
My trusted tried envoys
In Berryessa Valley, Bill,
Where you and I were boys.

I had four jack-knives I had found,
And each one had a name
That hinted at its pedigree
Or told from whence it came;
And I would hunt for arrow heads
Beneath the big oak tree
Where there had been n early times
An Indian Rancheria;
And once I found a two-bit piece
Which filled my cup of joys
In Berryessa Valley, Bill,
Where you and I were boys.

I knew where the best berries grow
Beside the bubbling spring,
And where the grape-vine hung across

And formed a natural swing;
I found the qual's well hidden nest
Beneath a wisp of hay,
And heard the dove's pathetic call
All through the Summer day;
But n this quiet life we led
We gained a certain poise
We owe to Berryessa, Bill,
Where you and I were boys.

Far, far away in time and place
Are those old barefoot days,
And you and I have tried our best
To take on city ways;
We live in homes now far beyond
Our boyhoods' wildest dream
With colored maids and 'lectric lights
And bed rooms het by steam,
But yet we often slip away
From all this fuss and noise
And dream of Berryessa, Bill,
Where you and I were boys.

And when the vistas of the past
Are viewed adown the years
We see what made the smiles of life
And soon forget the tears,
And when we look a long way back
To childhood's balmy days,
The bright spts make a constant glow
Of unobstructed rays;
That's why our dreams are happy ones
When the past our mind employs
With thoughts of Berryessa, Bill,
Where you and I were boys.

—James N. Hatch, Chicago, 1916.

IRVINGTON

Irvington is speculating just now on who is to be its next postmaster. The office is a fourth class office and under the civil service. Thomas Tierney resigned the office some time ago and Miss Annie Weston has been filling the position temporarily. At the civil service examination in January four applicants took the test: K. F. Reynolds, Charles Bez, Joshua Chadbourne and J. F. Ramsell. The postoffice is at present located in the store of Mr. Reynolds. The contest seems to be between Reynolds, who stood the highest in the examination and Bez, who has been a Democrat.

Irvington is to have a new lumber yard soon. Frank Leal will add lumber to the other lines he is now carrying.

Dave Reynolds, who has been confined to his bed for over a year, does not improve as well as his friends have hoped. He has undergone several operations having suffered the amputation of one foot. The amputation of the other is now recommended.

DECOTO

J. L. Olson, Decoto's well known and popular merchant, had a narrow escape in an accident last Sunday evening in Oakland. The automobile in which he was driving was struck by an electric train at 20th and Broadway and the driver, Mr. Olson, and Mr. Olson were thrown from the machine. Mr. Olson was rendered unconscious by the fall and was rushed to the Providence hospital, where he was treated. It was found that beyond a number of severe bruises he was not seriously injured, although he was obliged to remain in the hospital for several days.

The rear of the auto was badly smashed in the accident and it was a fortunate thing that Mrs. Olson who had been riding in the rear seat had been prevailed to leave the auto on account of the rain just a few moments before. The accident was caused by the machine skidding as the driver attempted to avoid the train.

Harry Searles is confined to his home this week with the measles.

Henry May has been making the trip this week with the Farm Bureau party to different parts of the state.

The Misses Kathleen and Evelyn White visited with the Whitfield family over the weekend.

Social Events

On Tuesday last Mrs. Plummer entertained the Niles "500" Club at Belvoir and, though it was a very rainy day, there was a full attendance of members. There were three tables of players with five persons at each of the tables. Mrs. Mosher won first prize—a book of receipts for table menus. Mrs. Moore was awarded the second prize, a beautiful handkerchief, and Mrs. Hawley carried off the consolation prize.

Tasty refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed before the party broke up. Those present were: Mesdames Plummer, Mosher, Bunting, Overacker, Hunt, Mosher, Philip Moore, Henry Tyson, Gregory, Hawley, Kirk, Ford, Jones, Velsir, McHugh.

An interesting and enjoyable meeting of the Niles Woman's Club was held at Mrs. Ellsworth's on Thursday last. In spite of the shower weather, about twenty-five ladies were present. After a short business meeting held in the parlor the company adjourned to the dining room, where a neat little play, selected as being appropriate for the day, was presented by eight members of the club. The play was entitled, "The Patriot Girl."

Characters.
Penelope, modern girl from N. Y.

A Maid ..... Mrs. Joe Tyson
Madame Dudley ..... Mrs. W. H. Tyson
Constance .....
Barbara .....
Madame's daughters .....
..... Mrs. Rutherford
..... Mrs. Overacker
An American soldier ..... Mrs. Donovan
An Englishman ..... Mrs. Wm. Moore

Story of the Play.
Penelope Winthrop pays her aristocratic Boston relatives an unexpected visit—family not at home—is received by the maid. Penelope does not appreciate the historic and haunted family mansion.

Legend.
That during the Revolution, an ancestress saved Boston (Dec. 2, 1775), and the spirits of those who took part in the event re-enact it on each anniversary, between 9 and 12 o'clock p. m.
Penelope has arrived on the anniversary night, and on the stroke of nine is astonished to see the portraits of her ancestors return to life, step from their frames and enact, before her, the little drama in which, while living they had taken part. They talk to Penelope and she describes to them a railroad train, a telephone, etc., of which, before they have never heard. The characters were all well sustained and the colonial styles of dress reminiscent of "ye olden time".
Last week Mrs. Overacker took charge of the primary Ward school during the illness and absence of Miss Muriel Plummer, the teacher.
Mrs. Clarence Martinstein's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher from Butler, Penn., are expected to come to California next month to make their permanent home in Niles.
With Apologies to a "Real Poet."
It is not raining rain to me—
It's raining tons of prunes!
Each shining drop that falls, a form
Of ripened fruit assumes!
It's not raining rain to me—
It pours "Prosperity!"

CENTERVILLE

The Girls Friendly Society of St. James Parish was hostess at a dancing party at the home of Mrs. J. C. Mowry on Friday evening Feb. 16th. It was given under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Mowry Mrs. F. C. Murgatten and Mrs. J. C. Mowry who acted as patronesses.

About forty young people were present in response to the invitations.

Mrs. Geo. Mathieson presided at the piano, and proved herself a most popular musician, responding again and again to encores, until it seemed sometimes that it would be impossible to end the present dance and commerce another one, especially in the tag two step. One dance was a favor dance in which balloons were given, the girls and acrobates the boys, which created much excitement and merriment, after which shortly followed a candy dance, the prize of a box of candy being awarded Mr. Earl Hellwig, but which he was not allowed to keep.

A buffet supper was served and when the time for departure came the young people were unanimous in pronouncing it a "wonderful" time.

To those unacquainted with the aims and purposes of the Girls Friendly Society we would say that it is a branch of Episcopal church work. While caring for her spiritual welfare it does not forget the social needs of the girl and gives them to her under proper chaperonage. Should she be forced to travel alone she would be cared for on her journey until she reached her destination. It is also missionary, giving something to others less fortunate than themselves. While a branch of Episcopal church work, any girl of moral character is eligible to membership, no matter what her church affiliation, which it does not seek to change. It does however desire connection with some church. This Society is very large in the East and is growing steadily in the West where it is commencing to be better known.

Mrs. E. M. Yates, mother of Mrs. M. L. Mowry, left on an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. D. L. Barber of Los Angeles, last Wednesday.

The Ladies Aid Society met Wednesday of this week at the home of Mrs. W. Yates.

The new plumbing shop is now under construction. Mr. Lewis is doing the carpentering.

Mr. J. B. Clark has been ill for two days but is now able to be up and around again.

The Valentine Social given Valentine's eve at the Presbyterian church by the Sunday School was a great success. A short program was given and angel cake and ice cream composed the refreshments.

The Centerville Grammar School will open Monday, Feb. 26, after a two weeks' vacation on account of sickness.

One of Mr. Hirsch's large plate glass windows was broken last Friday afternoon. Mr. P. C. Hansen's horses were frightened by lumber falling and before they could be caught they had gone through the window.

The St. James Guild will meet with Mrs. Chester Hatch Feb. 28th.

The Union 500 Club met with Mrs. H. Plummer at Belvoir on Tuesday. This Club will resume meetings after Lent is over, Mrs. M. Gregory as hostess.

Mrs. M. Allen went to the city on Monday—will go to a sanitarium for a rest—and it is hoped will soon return in better health.

The United Artisans had an interesting evening on Thursday. As it was Washington's Birthday members were requested to wear national colors. The new officers were installed, after which whist was enjoyed. The place cards for refreshments, also score cards—were appropriate in design and an enjoyable evening passed.

The grammar school children are enjoying a second week of vacation owing to the visitation of chicken-pox among some of the pupils.

And at last the rain came—very slowly at first—Monday a. m. 30; Tuesday settled into a good old-fashioned storm. The gauge showing one inch. Then Wednesday. Every drop is doing a world of good. Lawns are losing their yellow look; grass is growing at a rapid rate. It is hoped the storm will continue for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright had the unpleasant experience of having their automobile stolen in Oakland the other evening. It was left locked by the Hotel Oakland, but when they wished to leave it was gone. The police were very calm. Said "don't worry, we will find it before morning." Sure enough. It was found near Berkeley. Some one had run into the back of it. A valise had been taken, everything rummaged over. It was insured.

Directory of Washington Township

This space is reserved for the live professional and business men of Washington Township—those who are interested in seeing it grow, and who believe that one of the necessities of a growing community is a live local newspaper.

As we have said before and as we shall say again, it takes cash to put life into a newspaper; and where a newspaper is in the field for pure business only, the cash is sometimes, if not more frequently, a trifle scarce.

The sum of one dollar, which is all a notice under this heading costs you, is a small matter when you consider what your business would be worth if the Calaveras Dam should break, and Washington Township were swept away like the Otay valley last winter!

It pays you as a business man to support your local newspaper, when the said despised one is working constantly to help you safeguard your interests.

One good turn deserves another, and it's your turn now. We thank you in advance.
